Our God Calls to Us

Lyrics: Allyson Sawtell

Tune: “When Jesus Wept” by William Billings

This can be a congregational song, although it might be a difficult tune for the congregation. Or, it could be an ensemble song, sung by a small group, instead of the whole congregation, in a two-or more-part round. Don't sing it too slowly.

Our God calls to us: “Remember now
Who you were and may yet still be:
Connected within the Web of Life,
This, the Beloved Community.”

Our God calls to us, what will we reply
To God's call for justice, God's call for peace?
Together, with courage, let us say “yes!”
And live with hope that will never cease.

For the sake of the congregation's understanding, print the words in bulletin, because it's often hard to understand the words in a round.
